The police were telephoned that a man was killing his wife, but the facts in the case seemed to be that two of the sons were engaged in a fistic combat when the stepfather got into it, making the affray worse than it was. No arrests. Considerable speculation is being indulged in as to whether the Ringling Bros., will show in the city limits or beyond them. The revised city ordinances make the maximum license of a circus $709 a day, a sum which it is thought the Ringling Bros., will refuse to pay. The county license for two performances would be about $12.50, and as there is good car service to points outside the city limits, there is some reason for believing that the show would rather pitch its tents outside the city than pay the tax.

NOVEL PRODUCTION.

the Crusades a Beautiful Spectacle.

In the matter of spectacular produc-tion the Ringling Brothers have gone many steps farther than ever before at-tempted in circus enterprises, and their achievement has made previous efforts look coloriess and small. The subject chosen for their display is creamy with possibility, and the most has been made of this fact by the progressive firm. The story of Jerusalem and the Crusades is known to every reader, and classical history furnishes no chepter of higher and more inspiring interest. Ringling Brothers have seized upon the romantic features of this beautiful story, and brought them into stirring focus under canvas. Twelve hundred people are employed in the pantomimic display, and more than 60 horses are used in the exciting tournament and picturesque march of the Crusaders on their holy march of the Crusaders on their holy mission to Jerusalem. Oriental life is illustrated by a ballet advertissement before the Emir of Egypt, in which 200 young girls participate. The music was written for the production and is rendered by a band of 50 musicians, and the largest portable pipe organ ever made. This splendid novelty occupies about thirty minutes at the opening of about thirty minutes at the opening of the big circus program. It requires a special train to convey the enormous scenery, gorgeous properties and 2,000 costumes used in the production of this thrilling spectacle, Jerusalem and the

MANIAC STILL AT LARGE.

However, Wyoming Sheriff and Posse Are on His Trail-May Fight or Die.

(Special to the "News.") Cheyenne, Wyo., July 27 .- James Malady, the maniac, who murdered T. C. Hayes at Grand Encampment last Frilay night, and who escaped to the Sierra Madre mountains, is still at large. Sheriff Horton and posse are in pursuit but the cunning of the madman has thus far served him well. His knowledge of the mountains renders his capture extremely difficult. Mallady is well armed and will hight to bitter end. Yesterday the posse was close upon the murderer, but he got farther away during the night. The officers hope to starve the murderer into submission by keeping close on his trail. Thus far the posse has found no evidence of Mallady having partaken food during his flight, and it is possible that in his demented state he will not think of eating, and that his dead body will be found on one of the mountain trails. Action Taken Following the Recent visit of Traffic Director J. C. Stubbs to Coast.

Following the visit of Traffic Director J. C. Stubbs of the Harriman lines to the coast last week comes the story to the effect that the Union Pacific will relinquish its handsome offices at the Golden Gate and consolidate them with the Southern Pacific along the lines instituted recently at Portland, Or.

It is stated in confirmation of this story that no effort has been made to secure a renewal of the lease of the present headquarters under the Masonic Temple, which is soon to expire, and that arrangements were under way to bring the agencies of the Southern Paific, Oregon Short Line, O. R. & N. and the Union Pacific under one roof at 613 Market street,
